

Critical Acclaim For “BIBLI BURRO: THE DONKEY LIBRARY”

By Carlos Rendón Zipagauta

“Mr. Soriano has never traveled outside Colombia — but he remains dedicated to bringing its people a touch of the outside world.”

— Simon Romero, *The New York Times

“Director Carlos Rendón Zipagauta brings you into a world that is marred by violence, poverty and crime, revealing that even in such darkness, there is still a light guiding the next generation into believing such a world can evolve into a better place .”

— Joanne Thornborough, *The Daily Journal

“This award-winning film has all the elements that make the viewer care. . . . It’s a quest that will resonate.”

— Robert Walsh, *Deseret News

“A great story.”

— Mike Hughes, *Lansing State Journal

“Want hope? Watch the burro on PBS POV! You’re sure to love this story of a teacher in rural Colombia who is transforming lives with a mobile library he packs on his two burros. . . . The film is both a troubling and a reassuring look at families caught in a particularly dangerous corner of our world.”

— David Crumm, *ReadTheSpirit.com

“Biblioburro tells a simple, but truly inspirational, story.”

— What (Not) to Doc.com

“Biblioburro is the story of a simple idea, a determined individual and a profound message.”

— LatinTrends.com